

Solomon Schechter Day School of Greater Hartford

Schechter Shavua

Great things are happening at Schechter: Amazing Alum developing great skills in the kitchen, Shorashim practicing patterns to help develop authentic learning, and everyone loves a Conga-line-especially our energetic Rimonim friends!
Just another great week at Schechter!

#SchechterPride in...

Jonah Gershon (Schechter 2016), who developed a passion for cooking and baking while he was a student at Schechter. He has honed his skills by watching reality cooking shows and YouTube videos, participating in baking classes, and developing an extensive cookbook collection. Jonah explains, “baking combines art and food, two of my greatest passions!” At any given time, you will find Jonah in the kitchen whipping up a delicacy, such as Asian dumplings, fresh baked breads, babkas or French macarons. This summer, Jonah will run the cooking camp at Elmwood Community Center!

Along with his mother, Julie, he will be representing "Team MoJo" as contestants at the Beth David synagogue fundraiser “Kosher Chopped” at Beth David Synagogue, from 5-8 PM on October 21, 2018.

Shorashim Sees the World Through Patterns

If you have had a chance to visit the multi-age Shorashim class recently (Early Childhood 3 and 4), you may have heard the children enthusiastically calling out, “green-blue-green-blue” or “stick-rock-jewel-stick-rock-jewel!” Patterns spark authentic learning, as patterns exist all around us! Patterns are arrangements of things that repeat in a logical way. They allow us to see relationships and develop generalizations. The arrangement of colors, shapes, gestures, sounds, images, and numbers is an important concept for young children and contributes to their early math understanding. The children thrive, working collaboratively in multi-age groups, supporting one another to recognize and create patterns.

Highlight of the Week

Rimonim joyfully congas their way back to class after the school picture was taken yesterday!
